

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN THE FIELD OF MARKETING

The master of science in marketing (MSM) program is designed to provide students with knowledge, skills, and abilities to visualize long-term strategies and analyze critical information in a fast-changing and uncertain global environment. The program exposes students to modern theories and research in consumer behavior, research methodology and analytics, advertising and sales promotion, digital technologies, and the technologies of artificial intelligence and automated marketing. Marketing department courses emphasize an experiential learning pedagogy so that students develop strong problem-solving and integration skills. The courses integrate theory, method, and applications. They emphasize the collection, organization, and processing of consumer and marketing data, new analytic methodologies, and the impact of social media and new product and service technologies. Marketing is an exciting and dynamic field, and the MSM reflects this.
